"WHO'S WHO IN DAPAN EDITED ASD PUBLISHED BY S. KURITA.

The first (1913) edition is already second. BIOGRAPHIES of ever 5,000 people who are well-known in society and of several hundred foreigners associated with Japan appear in the book. Quite now materials and accurate sketches, both being atterly free from prejudices.

Many portraits are inserted. The book contains over 1,400 pages. The price is yet 6 (12/-) or $3 per copy. Orders for the book should be accompanied

Subscribers for the second annual edition "Who's Who in Japan" will be allowed

The registered postage is 18 seu, to Korea and China 40 sen and to Europe & America 70 sen or 35 cents.

In 18 & GOOD ADVERTISING MEDIUM. Many influential papers of the world noticed this work in the highest terms. For example. The Daily Mail says:-

Yet another Who Who ! and this time from Japan! The reader is apt at first to regard it as a ceriosity, as a sign that the Kast hus now become Western practically almost to the last detail. But . Who's Who In Japan is far more than a curionity; it is a very sound and uneful reference byok. It is printed in English and contains brief biographies, on the accepted model of prominent men in Japan. Mr Kurita in a skillful editor and has done. his work well.

DEEDS OF BELGIUM'S GALLANT IRMY.

18,500 Against 10,000. The Belgian Government has saved compendious history of the first six months of the war in Balgium, as set forth in official documents. Leaving seids for the moment other (catures, it is interesting to consider the role played by the small field army compared with the resistance offered by the strongly-fortified places. Thu Belgian army has been variously estimated. but now, for the first time, we learn that the actual strength of the heroic little force was only 93,000 rifl s. 6,000 sabres, 324 guns, and 102 mitrailleuses-fewer than 100,000 all told, to oppose the German

The Third Division that assumed the Children 10 cts. mobile defence of Liege, and which for five days kept in check 125,000 Germans, num-60 guns, with 24 mitrailleuses. They accounted for 42,000 of the enemy before ness was done by the heavy artillery.

The camponade could be heard as far as machine product. Antwerp. The forts of Andoy, Maizeret, Marchovelet . Cogneles, and Dave received Maiznest received 2,000 shells and still and more ago did for peaceful industry and kept on firing. Marchovelete was blown up, and the others were little more than ruins, whilst they continued to fire to cover the retreat of the 12,000 survivors of machine development, it could not be refrect. The German entered on Abgut for France. The German entered on Abgut for France, which is still largely and abouting next day, till it was smothered with 1,300 shells. The equally rapid success of the Germans at Antwerp can be understood when we read that the roofs shell as illustrating the compositive of the interest of the compositive of the interest of the compositive of the composition of the com technical assault.

The garrison had also to eppe with equipped works. The account give not the subsequent ret. est and the reasons for the taking up of the present line on the Year are well and clearly told, as well as the ultimate reasons for the last expedient of opening the sluices and thus definitely barring the route to Dunkirk and Calais.

FORTRESS FAILURES. In the Journal, M. Ch. Humbert devotes a leader to the failure of fortres es As instanced in the Russian campaign. He says that experience has amply p oved that a fortified town can only be effectually defended by a covering army in the open, (Removed to Sale Rooms for convenience He goes even further and declared that it is not necessary for the attack to have exceptionally heavy arrillery; if it can Carved Cherrywood. It is true that in the war of 1870 Helfort mauaged to hold out until the end never the same violence and concentration of bombardment. He is of opinion that even Metz could not resist very long if the French armies could cut it off from its communication with the German field The reason he gives is that mod in artillery fire requires an incessant replenishment in ammunition, and hot ever great and immense the stock accumulated in fortress, it would give out it face of an attack, vigorously kept up, with an accome panying perpetual bombardment, and this would call for such a continuous reply as would sooner or later exhaust the garri-son's supply of ammunition," and lead inevitably to a capitu ation. M. Humbert advances the theory that the Germans have long ago acrived at the conclusion, and that instead of pilling up a tillery and ONE Lee-Speed Match Rifle, 303 bore (British Army Ammunition) Accuracy guaranteed. A VILLAGE MURDER.

CASE BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

A Chinese and his mother were charged this afternoon, before Mr. Lindsell with the murder of a woman named Yan Sze Ny at Tan-Shiu Hang village.

Mr. G. N. Orme prosecuted, and Mr. Otto Kong Sing defended. Mr. Orme, in his opening statement, said that deceased was a native of Demerara. born in 1874, who married a resident of the same place, who died and left, her his property. In 1896 she married a man from Tan Shiu. Hang who had emigrated to Demerara at a time when that village was Chinese territory. Three or four days. before the time came for the usual grimage by heads of families for ancestral worship, the first defendant told the adopted son of the decessed that he himself, the head of that family, was ill, and sent him in his stead. On the night of the 18th they all turned in as usual, the first defendant being the only person upstairs. In the morning about 6 o'clock the first defendent came to the police station and reported the murder of his second mother by ten samed robbers who had taken her money and jewellery. His story was that they had effected entrance by the top window of his cubicle, which would gutail a laborious climb. They had -gagged. the Brat defendant with pieces of paper, which would be produced for his Worship to judge of the effective ness of the gag. No one in the house, except the first defendant, seemed to have beard the robbers, and there were no marks of an outrage except in the deceased ro-ma nor were the dogs aroused. Inquiries were made and two defendants were arrested ou au picion. The first had in his possession so go snake ring belonging to deceased. The second defendant, arrested suddenly outside her house, tried to pass two purses. One of them. with four rings inside it, was, identified as the property of the deceased.

LOUVRE'S "BIT.

Revered Monument on War Service.

In the general topsy-turveydom of things the Louvre stands out as an amazing sign of the times, states the Paris correspondent of the Evening Standard. As you pass by that revered monument you catch sight of sandbage and planks filling the windows. and se for the end wing, which rejoices in the name of Flora's Parilion and formerly was the headquarters of the Colonial Ciffices, it'is demoralised and democratical as in is not possible to imagine. If you ramember, in the pre-historic bimes of before the war, the building was considered so ascred that the city, or the city Press, rose in arms and clamoured for all Government offices to be speedily moved and the Pavilion was empty for a time. Then came the sar, and to everyone's surprise two philanthropic societies were and the defendant, I think, if your Wor- granted domicile therein. I. saw a the door of one of those sociatios, and following them through the open door L saw an immense and lofty room, once furnished from the museum with historic bangings and furniture. now filled with a vast and miscallaneous collection of objects culled from America chiefly, and destined for the families of the Belgian refugees now scattered through England and France.

WE ARE YOUR PARILY. There is a little conkectew stair at one end of this ball. Climbing up it, you find yourself in another room, very like the first, but lighter, sunnier, more cheerful. and commanding a fine view of the geraniums of the Place du Carronsolt just below the windows. Here we e piles of prisoner's bread, mighty jars of jam, stacks of chocolate, boxes of cigarette-holders. button-hooks, washing apparatus, and the like. A Belgian soldier had wandered down in front of me, and was being welcomed by an American girl in broken "your family ; you understand? They distribute throughout the Belgian army postcards, stamped; and printed with the address of the society, the "Appal Belge," and bearing a brief catechism. Your name, regimental number, postal address? What do you need ? These pos cards arrive daily at the Louvre, in cores and hundreds, are sorted, classed, and handed to packers. The parcel goes out forthwith.

NOTICE TO QUIT. The very next suite of rooms in Flora's Halls is, and has for some time past been. occupied by the Society of the "Secours National." but bees all is gloom, not to say despair for they have received, so to speak, notice to quit. Why ! Mystery. No one knows, or, at least, no one says. But out they have to go, and removal entails a considerable waste of time and a long suforced delay in the sending out of sid to the needy. They have not yet found a place big enough to hold them. You may imagine you do not easily get offices as big as the Louvre it is it the dangerous match or the menacing eighteite again? No, for a Government office from over the way is coming to take our place. Not possible But yes, so it is. Accept my condolences, Men leurs. A bow, a tear, and we pass on. There is a want of stability in things in war time svidently. We depart, with the firm intention to pass again in a few days The (). C.
